Dear President Caputo:

Congratulations! It is a great privilege to inform you and the Pace University community that the Ivan G. Seidenberg School of Computer Science and Information Systems has been selected to receive one of three 2006 ABET President’s Awards for Diversity. The ABET President’s Award for Diversity is presented to recognize U.S.-based educational units, individuals, associations, and firms for extraordinary success in achieving diversity and inclusiveness or for facilitating diversity and inclusiveness in the technological segments of our society. The 2006 awards will be conferred on Wednesday, October 25, 2006, in Tampa, FL, as part of the 2006 ABET Annual Meeting.

ABET is honoring Pace University’s Ivan G. Seidenberg School of Computer Science and Information Systems for providing a supportive atmosphere for its diverse student body and for its efforts to encourage young women to enter into the field of computing by hosting the Women in Computing Symposium and the Trendsetters Conference on Nontraditional Careers. Pace deserves recognition for what it is accomplishing.

ABET, Inc., is the professional accreditation agency providing leadership and quality assurance in applied science, computing, engineering, and technology education. Pace currently has ABET-accredited programs in computer science and information systems. We are honored to acknowledge your commitment and contribution to the diversity goals of the nation’s higher education community.

ABET is pleased to offer complimentary meeting registration and travel support for you or your representative to join us in Tampa as we honor Pace’s commitment to diversity in education. We hope that you will join us. Please contact Stephanie Engelhardt, ABET Meetings and Member Services Specialist, at 410-347-7727 or sengelhardt@abet.org with your RSVP.

Sincerely,

Richard C. Seagrave, Ph.D.
President
